SUSPICIOUS OF GREECE

Allies Are Depending on the Albanians to Hold the Teutons in Check.

Operations which may have an important bearing on the Balkan situation are now taking place in Albania. The situation there is somewhat clouded but it appears that the Austrians and Bulgarians jointly are making the most of what appears to be their present opportunity to overrun the country in which little effective opposition to their action is apparent. The Entente Allies seem to be placing reliance on Essad Pasha to hold the Teutonic forces in check temporarily but what measures if any are being taken to assist him are not yet apparent.

The Greeks are said to be re-enforcing their detachments at the Albanian border points and developments as to the attitude to be adopted by the Greek government in view of the Bulgarian activities in southern Albania are being closely watched by Entente interests in Greece, according to news agency advices from Athens, there being some distrust, it is said, regarding the policy of the Greek government.

The British labor conference, after yesterday adopting resolutions against compulsion, but declining to countenance agitation for the repeal of the military service measure, lest the government be embarrassed in its prosecution of the war, today placed itself on record for revision of the munitions act. The resolutions on the subject voiced a protest against the war being made a pretext for greater coercion and subjection of labor. The conference approved the action of the executive committee of the labor party in Parliament in permitting labor men to take office in the coalition government.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS)

PARIS, Jan. 28.—A despatch to the Matin says that French bluejackets have occupied the small town of Antiphillo on the coast of Asia Minor, opposite Castelorio.

They destroyed the telegraph wires, seized a number of documents and permitted Greek families, which had been driven away to return to their homes.

MIGHTY SERMON STIRS AUDIENCE AT THE REVIVAL

Great Congregation is Held Awe-Struck and Silent for More Than an Hour.

The greatest sermon since the opening of the meetings in the First Methodist church was delivered last evening by Dr. Morrison, who held his great audience awe-struck and silent for over an hour. It was indeed a masterpiece of pulpit oratory and recalled to mind the few great sermons which have gone down with such a place in history. To see and hear the great Scotch evangelist from the Southland and to drink in his wonderful sayings, rich with eloquence and glowing with tribute to the majesty and power of the God of Heaven, was but to give one a vision of Peter at Pentecost, or Paul on Mars Hill. It was such a sermon as few men indeed are capable of delivering.

The chief theme of Dr. Morrison's talk was that all men must be born again. However, he did not once mention this great spiritual regeneration. He cited the story of Dives and Lazarus and did it in such a way that one could hear the shrieks and groans of the rich man as he cried to Father Abraham for water, only to be denied by the inseparable gulf cutting off all communication—one could see the beggar Lazarus transformed and resting on the bosom of the holy founder of the Hebrew race. There were many other mighty portrayals of Biblical scenes and time and again were framed commonplace parables of today, making the word of man so plain and so vivid that no person dared deny but that the shafts of truth went straight home to the heart of every hearer.

When Dr. Morrison told of the loss of his father in the struggle between the North and South, hundreds upon hundreds were seen silently weeping and when he showed that his father was not really dead, but that he merely awaited the time when the prison house of the soul should be broken and the spirit permitted to go to the One who gave it, there was audible crying on every side.

The revival services are growing in interest and in results from night to night and the attendance continues to become greater. Professor Hiatt, assisted by Mrs. Cuppet and a mighty chorus of trained voices, is producing results which are beyond original expectations in the music line.

On Saturday afternoon there will be held a great mass meeting for the little folk of the city, when on Sunday afternoon at 2:30 one of the greatest meetings for men only that has ever been held in this section, will take place. "Who Made the Devil and How to Make Another," is to be the subject of the Sunday sermon to the men. It is confidently expected that 1,500 men will attend.

Regular services at the usual hour will be held tonight.

RIVERS OVERRUNNING STATE OF ARKANSAS

Where Hundreds of Persons Are Made Homeless and Great Damage is Done.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS)

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Jan. 28.—Hundreds of persons are homeless and have asked for aid and thousands of acres of land are inundated in the lower reaches of the White and the Arkansas rivers. Upstream with the Arkansas four miles wide at Mulberry is a volume of water which rivermen believe will cause the worst flood in twenty-five years when it pours down stream and into the overflow that is backed up because of high water in the Mississippi.

The board of commerce of Little Rock met today to devise plans of aiding the sufferers near Watson, Ark., who sent appeals for aid yesterday to Governor Hays. Elbert Stone, of Watson, a planter and storekeeper, in a long distance telephone conversation, said that virtually 500 families driven from their homes by the high water were suffering for food and supplies.

Thirty thousand sacks were rushed to the state convict farm at Cummins, where 1,000 convicts were set to work today re-enforcing the main levee and the new loop levee that was finished yesterday by prisoners. It was thought that the loop levee would save the farm but fear is expressed now since predictions by the weather bureau tell of unprecedented river stages that the levees may not hold against the great pressure of water.

With the report of high water came also information from Mulberry that heavy rain and wind had done considerable damage to residences, gins and oil mill plants.

Heavy rains over the state last night added still further to a volume of water already dangerous and continued rains make the situation virtually unmanageable.

She was the oldest member of the Methodist Episcopal church and was a devout Christian woman. She was the last member of a large family, the only surviving relative being William H. Hartley of this city, a nephew.

BANK CASES

At Grafton Will Be Heard by Circuit Court Jury on February 7.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS)

GRAFTON, Jan. 28.—After prolonged argument on technical points at a special night session of the circuit court on Thursday, which lasted until a late hour, Judge Fortney permitted the defense to file its two pleas in abatement in the three indictments against Charles R. Durbin, the former Grafton bank president, which were found at this court.

A hearing on the pleas was then set for February 7, when a jury will be empaneled to decide the points raised by the pleas. The fight so far has been merely preliminary to the main events and the state will endeavor to have the trial of Durbin conducted immediately after February 7 if the pleas of Durbin to the indictments are not held good.

The Location of a Factory

(By G. W. Dudderar, secretary-treasurer of the board of trade.)

Did you ever stop to consider why factories locate in any city? If not, let me outline to you the process usually followed by wise and ultimately successful manufacturing concerns.

Up to a period of not more than ten years ago no extensive consideration seemed to be given by manufacturers to study and investigation of various locations. In those times it was simply to locate somewhere convenient where they would have plenty of room. The manufacturer, as natural to expect, was more absorbed in turning out his product and the question of location was a matter of second thought.

Today we see the results of this, large as well as small concerns, are looking for new locations, many of them regret their present location and are investigating other sections, in order to cut down fuel and transportation bills. Competition in respective lines of manufacture is now so keen that manufacturers desiring to locate are beginning to go about it in a systematic manner and go into such details as will enable them to decide on a location that is best suited for their particular interests.

Usually the manufacturer who contemplates a change of location lays out a general plan of his proposed factory, making reasonable allowances for future extensions, necessary railroad tracks, ample storage and future growth, then statistics showing data relative to the economic assemblage of raw material, including fuel and the distribution of finished product are gathered as well as a careful study made of local transportation facilities, labor conditions, etc.

Local City Data.

Chambers of commerce or boards of trade of the various cities being investigated are called into action and are also called upon for information. The manufacturer usually wants access to a map of the city showing therein various factory sites, their proximity to railroad and water, he wants information about the water supply, whether owned by the city, the size of the water mains, pressure, cost per thousand gallons, whether on flat rate or meter, analysis of same, etc. Question of sewage is usually regarded as important in most states. Sanitation laws must be strictly observed. State board of health rules must be looked up and specifications of the construction of factory planned accordingly. While in our city the prospective manufacturer will look up questions of assessed valuations, also what percentage this bears to real valuation, tax rates ascertained, information of insurance rate on factory buildings and equipment of various cities compared. In this connection he inquires as to fire protection, how far is factory site from fire engine house, kind of fire alarm system, if any, source of water supply for protection, as all of these questions have a strong influence upon insurance rates independent of the class of buildings to be erected. City regulations bearing upon the labor situation, data as to schools, churches, street paving, drinking water supply, health and sanitary conditions, cleanliness and beauty of the city and social conditions, all having a considerable bearing upon the issue, sec-

TEACHERS GATHER IN ANNUAL SESSION

CHILD POISONER

Is at Large and Operating in the City of New York City.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS)

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—Four weeks old Julius Clemens died today from the effects of a quantity of acid forced down his throat by an unidentified man while the child was sitting in a gocart outside of a candy shop in the Bronx yesterday.

Mrs. Charles Clemens, the baby's mother, had stepped into the shop leaving her four-year-old daughter, Leona, to watch Julius. When the mother rushed into the street in response to the girl's scream she found that the boy's mouth, chin and neck had been burned by a strong acid and the child was crying.

"A man did it," said Leona. "He gave baby something."

The police have been unable to obtain a clue to the identity of the child poisoner, and also are at a loss as to his motive.

WAGE INCREASE.

CANNONBURG, Pa., Jan. 28.—Three hundred employees of the Fort Pitt Bridge Company here were notified today of an increase of ten per cent in wages. All employees except office employees are affected.

At Least 250 Report at the Opening and That Number Will Be Swelled.

The eight annual session of the Harrison County Teachers Association is in session in the auditorium of the Washington Irving high school building here today and will continue Friday night and Saturday morning. At the opening session Friday morning 250 of the county's teachers were present and this number is expected to be greatly increased at later sessions as all teachers had the privilege of visiting city schools Friday morning but must attend the other sessions of the meeting. It is expected that more than 350 teachers will be present at the other sessions.

The morning session was delayed in starting on account of the absence of A. P. Morrison, president of the association. After waiting a half hour for President Morrison, Carl S. Lawson, county superintendent of schools and vice president of the association, called the meeting to order. Miss Lester Jackson presided at the piano and G. N. Holden directed the music.

The morning program was rearranged on account of the failure of George E. Hubbs and L. J. Hannifan, of Charleston, who were the first on the program, to arrive in the city in time to be present at the opening of the session. M. J. Abby, of Morgantown, the third on the program, was moved up first and his address on "Shall We Give Credit for Farm and Home Work?" was well received by the large gathering of teachers.

Prof. F. L. Burdette was the next speaker on the morning program and his talk on "The Importance of Teachers Studying and Applying the Course of Study" was both interesting and instructive.

INSERT TEACHERS

J. F. Marsh, of the state department of schools at Charleston, arrived shortly after the morning program began and made it known that on account of the heavy work of the department, George E. Hubbs and L. J. Hannifan, who were to address the association, would not be present, but that he would talk on both of the subjects assigned to them.

At the close of Prof. Burdette's talk Mr. Marsh talked to the teachers on Mr. Hubbs' subject: "Echoes from the State Department of Schools." His talk while short proved very beneficial to all present. Later in the day he will discuss Mr. Hannifan's subject.

After Mr. Marsh's talk a general discussion was held until the noon hour.

Afternoon Session.

The afternoon session was started promptly at 1:30 o'clock with the usual musical program.

Stanley C. Morris, principal of the Wallace schools, was the first speaker on the afternoon program. His subject was "Short-comings of Teachers."

Pennsylvania Crude is Now Quoted at $2.35 a Barrel on Pittsburg Market.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS)

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 28.—A further advance in the price of crude oil was announced by the principal purchasing agencies here today, ten cents being added to the more important grades as follows:

Pennsylvania crude, $2.35; Cabell, $1.88; Mercer Black, New Castle and Corning, $1.85; Somerset, $1.75. Five cents was added to the price of Ragland, bringing that grade to eighty cents.

Successive advances over a period of six months or more had failed to bring out the crude oil needed by the refineries and authorities said today they hoped that the new price would prove a stimulus to prompt development in the West Virginia, western Pennsylvania and western Ohio fields.
